Hearing Health

Educational Event

Tuesday, March 14th — Thursday, March 16th
9am to 4pm by Appointment

At Audiology Associates of South Florida our patients approach us with these common questions.

- ◆ Is my hearing bad enough that I need hearing aids?
- ◆ I heard about the risk of dementia or other diseases and their link to hearing loss. Do I need to worry?
- ◆ I bought hearing aids but still don't hear very well. Are there other options?

You may have similar hearing related questions. We have created this special educational event to answer these and many other questions you might have about your hearing health. We have teamed up with Oticon, a world leader in hearing health, to assist us in this event.

Madeline Martinez, a hearing industry expert from Oticon, will be attending this event to help answer your questions and provide insight into exciting new advancements in hearing health science. We believe you will be richly rewarded for taking the time to participate in this event.

During this event we will be pleased to offer at no cost or obligation:

- ◆ A hearing assessment to measure your current hearing levels
- ◆ A consultation to discuss our findings and treatment options
- ◆ A demonstration of new technology, if appropriate, with an opportunity to try it at home risk-free.
